

The Crisis of Masculinity:
War Trauma, Homosociality, and the Queer Horizon of Early Hemingway

Kohei Kawamura

Student Number BBC24007

Osaka Metropolitan University

The Graduate School of Literature and the Human Sciences

Department of Language and Culture

English and American Language and Literature Course

January 2026

Contents

Introduction.....	1
Chapter 1 War Trauma and Failed Homosocial Bonds in The Sun Also Rises	7
1.1 Review of Prior Studies	7
1.2 Jake’s Gendered Trauma	8
1.3 Male Homosocial Bond.....	12
1.4 Imagining an Alternative	15
Chapter 2 War Trauma and Failed Homosocial Bonds in A Farewell to Arms	21
2.1 Review of Prior Studies	21
2.2 Militaristic Gender Norms.....	23
2.3 Frederic’s Gender Trauma.....	26
2.4 Militaristic Homosociality and Brothels.....	29
Chapter 3 The Queer Horizon in A Farewell to Arms	38
3.1 The Early Signs of Queerness	38
3.2 The Queer Horizon.....	42
Conclusion	48
Notes.....	50
Works Cited.....	55